

Lung SRF Stem Regen Factors

Lung SRF offers micronized nutrients that supports the health and restoration of the Respiratory System. Included, is the very effective Laser Infused Bio-Information which also provides gene therapy frequencies to signal advanced lung healing. Protecting and supporting your lungs with Lung SRF is one of the absolute best steps you can take in maintaining good health for longer.

Breathing, even though a simple act, requires a lot of energy from our body. As you well know, oxygen is vital for life. Every cell in your body needs oxygen — and lots of it. Cancer, on the other hand, hates oxygen. It thrives in a low oxygen environment. Unfortunately with decline in lung function the oxygen supplied to the cells can be diminished. Your lung function can actually begin to decline long before you notice any issues. Some people notice it in the declining sharpness of their memory. Others notice it in their muscles and joints and they become stiff and tire faster, fluid balance in the body, skin changes and even changes in the voice, the sense of smell plus other tail tail signs.

So, what happens when congestion, pollutions, allergies, microorganisms, dust, colds, and more get a grip on your Respiratory System? You get less life sustaining oxygen delivered throughout your body. Sometimes we need a natural lung support to help maintain free flowing oxygen delivery.

Lung Stem Regen Factor (SRF) is a micronized bio-energetic nutritional supplement which supplies time-tested botanicals, traditional herbs, antioxidant compounds, drainage, emotional support and laser infused bio-information that helps to support clear and comfortable breathing in addition to:

- Assisting with congestion to promote easier breathing.
- Neutralizing cell-damaging free radicals in the Lungs.
- Optimizing oxygen intake for blood health and energy.
- A synergistic blend of herbs which nourish and support the entire Respiratory System.

Laser Infused Bio-Information - Frequency Based SPT1 Gene Targeted Technology
SPT1 promotes the production of sphingolipid. Sphingolipid metabolism is involved in lung diseases such as emphysema, asthma, cystic fibrosis, respiratory tract infection, sepsis and acute lung injury. When this gene is not properly activated, these lung issues can occur. This gene works on counteracting inflammatory responses in the lungs and supporting the mucosal lining to help protect the lungs so it does not develop these lung issues.

The SRF Difference

There are numerous supplements on the market today. So why choose the Stem Regen Factors® product line of micronized nutraceuticals?

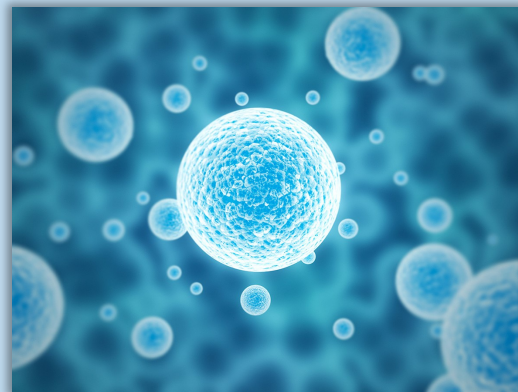

THE ONLY LUNG SUPPORT WITH:

- ✓ Stem Regen Factors® - an exclusive blend of clinically tested, micronized ingredients that help promote the production and release millions of your body's own stem cells from the bone marrow into the bloodstream. Studies show that the more stem cells you have circulating in your body, the greater the ability of your body to naturally renew itself.
- ✓ Micronized Ingredients - Smaller is better! Cutting-edge micronization technology produces tiny, particle-sized ingredients allowing for Superior Absorption, bypassing the Gastrointestinal Tract, Improved Bioavailability and Faster On-Set of Action. This means there are no pills to swallow, an easy-to-use spray, safe and convenient, with rapid bioavailability and quick results.
- ✓ Complete Micronized Nutrient Support - A full range of supportive nutrients include vitamins, minerals, herbs, cell salts, amino acids, and nutraceuticals to support the organ or system for optimal health and restoration. Stem Regen Factors is uniquely formulated to encompass the science behind Traditional Chinese Medicine, Ayurvedic and Western Medicine for optimal nutritional support.
- ✓ Detox Support - Deep cellular detoxification with lymphatic drainage is a fundamental component of cell health and renewal. Without detoxification, cell waste will buildup not allowing the nutrients to be utilized by the cells properly. This could be the root of many diseases.
- ✓ Emotional Support - For optimal health, the mind-body connection must be addressed. Cells need constant growth to maintain the body's healthy functioning. However, when confronted by stress, cells adopt a defensive protection posture. When that happens, the body's energy resources, normally used to sustain growth and healing, are diverted to systems that provide protection. The result is that growth and healing processes are restricted or suspended in a stressed system. The Emotional Support in Lung SRF® restores the body to a state of calm and counter balance and allows the cells to relax, grow and repair.
- ✓ Laser Infused Bio-Information - Includes frequency based information to provide support to targeted organ or system making this Product Line an even more unique product for superior results. Included are gene targeted bio resonant frequencies of DNA molecules with precise sequences to target genes that produce the body's natural proteins that have been proven to promote health, as well, as protect against and supports the resolution of many diseases.
